

DISCLOSURE PURSUANT TO ART. 13-14 GDPR (GENERAL DATA PROTECTION REGULATION) 2016/679

Dear User,

The GDPR (GENERAL DATA PROTECTION REGULATION) 2016/679 provides for the protection of people and other subjects regarding the processing of personal data.

Personal data (name, surname, first name, telephone, email address, any website, link to the video with the artistic performance, identity document, residence permit, date and place of birth, Citizenship, residence address, tax code) are acquired, on a voluntary basis, upon registration on the Stradarte platform aimed at the subsequent booking of the appropriate spaces for the practice of street art in the city of Milan, according to the procedures set out in the Regulations for Discipline of the Street Arts, approved by City Council Resolution no. 36 of 17/9/2012 which constitutes the legal basis for the processing.

The processing takes place within the limits of the purposes of the aforementioned service and will not be transferred to third parties for commercial purposes and / or market research. The Municipality of Milan, as the data controller, may arrange checks on site to identify the artists present and verify the compliance of the data provided.

The data will be processed and may be disclosed anonymously through IT and computer and / or manual tools and will be kept ensuring their security and confidentiality with adequate protection measures, in order to reduce the risk of destruction or loss of data, even if accidental, unauthorized access, or unauthorized processing or processing not in compliance with the purposes for which the data were collected.

The data will be kept for a period of time not exceeding the achievement of the purposes, ("principle of limitation of conservation", art.5, of the EU Regulation) or on the basis of the deadlines established by law.

The data are not intended for third parties or subject to communication or dissemination and are not transferred to third countries outside the European Economic Area.

Browsing data and cookies

During their normal operation, the IT systems and software procedures used to operate the Stradarte platform acquire some personal data the transmission of which is implicit in the use of Internet communication protocols.

This information is not collected to be associated with identified parties, but which by its very nature could, through processing and association with data held by third parties, allow users to be identified.

This category of data includes the IP addresses or domain names of the computers used by users who connect to the site, the addresses in URI (Uniform Resource Identifier) notation of the requested resources, the time of the request, the method used in submitting the request to the server, the size of the file obtained in response, the numeric code indicating the status of the response given by the server (successful, error, etc.) and other parameters relating to the operating system and the user's computer environment.

These data are used for the sole purpose of obtaining anonymous statistical information on the use of the site and to check its correct functioning. The data could be used to ascertain responsibility in case of hypothetical computer crimes against the site.

No cookies are used to transmit personal information, nor are persistent cookies of any kind used, or systems for tracking users.

The use of session cookies (which are not stored permanently on the user's computer or on the server and disappear when the browser is closed, the system logs out or the session expires) is strictly limited to the transmission of session identifiers which are necessary to allow the safe and efficient exploration of the site. The session cookies used on the Stradarte platform avoid the use of other IT techniques that are potentially detrimental to the confidentiality of user navigation and do not allow the acquisition of the user's personal identification data.
